Class Rules

- Follow all Covid-19 policies put forth by the administration. Policies are on the TVAA website and all updates will be posted as information changes.
- Be on time.
- No eating in class. You may bring water, but if you bring disposable bottles please take them with you when you leave.
- No illegal parking (close to corners and/or fire hydrants, on the grassy lot behind the stage). Do not park in alley or directly in front of the theatre; this ensures quick access for emergency vehicles.
- Students are restricted to the areas of the Ritz where classes are being conducted. Balcony, technical areas, scene shop, dressing rooms, and kitchen are off-limits.
- No visitors without the permission of the director.

Absences

- You must notify the instructor 24 hours before class by text, email, or phone call if you are ill or have a family emergency. In the case of emergencies the day of or during class, parent/guardians may contact the instructor directly.
- 2 absences allowed the first semester, 1 absence allowed the second. As the nature of rehearsals in the second semester are collaborative, attendance is absolutely necessary.

Expulsion

- Extreme behavioral issues will be dealt with promptly. However, missed class without prior notification, refusal to participate in class exercises, unwillingness to complete assignments, and habitual tardiness will also be grounds for considering expulsion.

Workshop Fee

- The workshop fee is $100 for the year. Parents/guardians must pay at least $50 by the first class on September 20, 2021. This is payable online at our website. For a custom payment plan to address financial difficulty, please fill out the form on our website by September 20.

Communication

- Cell phone numbers and email addresses should be made available and utilized by both students and instructors in a respectful manner regarding class business only and during appropriate hours. Other forms of social media are not appropriate for contact information (Facebook, Instagram, etc.). Instructor contact information will only be shared at each instructor's discretion.
